Somebody's Fully in Chicago Course a Red Outbrook in Ohio.

Omcago, Dec. 27 .- The Ohio State Board of Health has been notified of the outbreak of diphtheria at Canesville, O., which bids fair to develop into a terrible epidemic. A Chicago physician is blamed for the calamity. It is said he issued a false certificate as to the death of a child, whose remains were shipped from Chicago to Zanesville, and infected people there with diphtheria. About one week ago the corpse of the child, which was the daughter of Henry B. Tuttle, and had died in Chicago, was shipped to Zanesville for burial. It was taken to the residence of Thomas Gibbons, a relative for funeral services. The certificate of death, signed by a Chicago physician, gave the causes of death as heart failure and blood poisoning. Subsequently it was discovered that the child had died of diphtheria. Two inmates of the Gibbons house have since died of the disease, three other deaths outside of the family have occurred and six members of the Gibbons family are down with the disease. There is great indignation in Zanesville agai st the Chicage physician, and Secretary Probst will confer with the State Board of Health of Illinois in an attempt to have him prosecuted.

Upon receipt of the above information from Zanesville Dr. Wickersham took immediate steps to locate the case. and discovered that the child had died in Ravenswood. Dr. Porter, the medical examiner of Lake View, reported the facts back to Dr. Wickersham. The case was that of Ethel C. Tuttle. It was first reported to the Lake View branch of the health department on November 25 by Dr. S. P. Hedges as a case of diphtheria. The death certificate was issued December 7. "The cause of death was diphtheria," says Dr. Porter. "The permit was so made out and the place of burial was designated as Zanesville, O. If the railroad company received the body for transportation and the permit as issued by this department was presented to them I am of the opinion that the company is sesponsible for the spread of any contagion from the body after being so accepted for transportation."

DESPERATE DARKIES.

The Attempt to Arrest a Negro Desperado at Je-sup. Ga., Results in Wholesale Killing.

SAYANNAH, Ga., Dec. 27 .- The trouble at Jessup Christmas began at ten a. m., when Chief Marshal Legett and assistants attempted to arrest Hob Brewer, the notorious negro outlaw and fugitive. Brewer raised his gun to his shoulder and deliberately shot down Assistant Marshal Barnhill, killing him instantly. The chief marshal then fired on Brewer, but missed him. Brewer returned the fire and shot Legett through both legs. Brewer and is growd of ten or twelve men then fled to McMillam swamp, a few yardsaway.

The report of the guns threw the town into a whirlwind of excitement, and the negroes were followed into the swamp by several citizens. Among them were William Wood, a carpenter, and his son, William Wood, who is on a visit from Ridgeland, S. C., to his father. The negroes dodged into the swamp, and when young Wood ran in behind them Brewer rose up and shot him through the head, killing him instantly, and shot Wood's father in the face. Accomplishing this much, the negroes ran further into the swamp and escaped. The news of the death of young Wood and the serious shooting of his father spread like wild are over the town.

Confusion reigned for a time and Jessup seemed to be in the hands of a violent mob. Mayor Hopps called a meeting and hasty arrangements were made to protect the town. Seventyave armed men were gathered in a few minutes and followed Brewer and his party a distance into the swamp.

McMillan swamp covers over 400 acres, and Brewer is so familiar with its hiding places that the efforts of the posee to locate him in the swamp were regarded as in vain. The strength of the posse was increased by at least twenty-five armed men before an hour had elapsed, and a picket line was formed on the east side so as to prohibit anybody from coming out of the swamp to the town.

The most reliable information is that ten people have been killed at Jessup. namely: Barnhill and Woods, by Brewer; Anderson, white, accidentally; Johnson and Hopps, in jail; Fleut, colored, on the street; two whites and two negroes whose names are not given.

HENRY W. GRADY DEAD.

The Great Southern Editor and Orator

Dies Somewhat Unexpectedly. ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 23.—Henry W. Grady is dead. Death came at 3:00 o'clock this morning. Its coming had been feared by those who had watched the case closely, but notedy expected it

The scene at his home during the last hours was most pathetic. It was shortly after eleven o'clock that Mr. Everett announced that Mr. Grady was sinking rapidly and that the end was near. Then it was that all the members of the family and relatives gathered about the sick bed hoping against hore, yet praying that the bitter cup might be taken from them. Friends who had at the doctor's suggestion left the house a few hours previously were hastily summoned. At 3:40 the sick man drew his last breath and the great heart was

Mr. Grady was Atlanta's favorite citizen-the center of its public and social affairs. Perhaps no other man holds such a peculiar place in the affections of a community as he held. The National attention which he attracted by his famous speech at the banquet of the New England Association, a few years ago, when, with un-expected eloquence, he voiced the Southern wish for National unity of spirit and purpose as well as of government, strengthened his hold upon the friendship of the neighbors who already knew and esteemed him.

Mr. Grady was a stout, black-haired, black-eyed man of thirty-nine, and could appear either officen or fifty. He was of an elastic temperament and believed in relaxation, worked like a Trojan and frolicked with the rest of a boy. When he got through with his mail in the morning he would come into the room where Wallace Reef, Joel Chandler Harris and the other members of the editorial force of the Constitution were engaged and break up their work for fifteen minutes. Sitting on Mr. Harris' desk he would bring everybody around him and the audience were regaled with jokes and a running satire on current events. The entertain-ment wound up with the suddenness of a company on double quick coming to a halt. All at once Mr. Grady would put on a serious face and retire to his room, slamming the door behind him. With his stenographer, Jim-an amiable young man built like a shoestring and capable of an amazing amount of good work-Mr. Grady was closeted for an hour or The amount of work he got through with in an hour was astonishing. In a few minutes he would lay out a week's work for his staff. To his friends Mr. Grady was an intense partisan and to his enemies a dangerous man. He worked on big enterprises, but could go through details with amazing rapidity. His personal acquaintance was cyclopedic, and knew something about everybody. For a man with an imagination be could digest figures with wonderful quickness and precision.

Grady's father was a Confederate officer and was killed in battle when Henry was fourteen years old.

The illness which caused his death began with a cold which be caught at the Plymouth Rock celebration in Boston a few days ago.

WEST SENTENCED.

The Late Manager of the Chicago Times Hearity Souteneed. CITICAGO, Dec. 24.-James J. West, ex-editor of the Chicago Times, expresident of the Times Company and still a claimant in civil suits for a controlling interest in its management, was convicted last night of the crime of overissuing the stock of the company, knowingly, designedly and with intent to fraud, and sentenced to pay a fine of $1,000 and to be imprisoned in the penitentiary for the term of five years. Charles E. Graham, West's private secretary and the secretary of the company, and his alleged confederate and co-defendant, was acquitted. When the clerk of the court read the jury's verdict West betrayed little emotion. The weight of the crushing blow, however, feel beavily on Frank J. Smith, the only one of his counsel present, whose lips quivered and whose eyes filled with teats. Mr. Smith took a few moments to regain command of his feelings and then entered a motion for a new trial. The hearing of arguments on the motion was set for Thursday and Friday, January 2 and 3, 1830, pending which time Mr. West was left at literty on $15,000 bail.

ST. PAUL DE LOANUA. Dec. 24 -The eclipse of the sun was observed with partial success Sunday. The sky was clear during the first part of the eclipse but was obscured during the totality. The results obtained through a fortyfoot photo-eliograph, managed by Bigelow, were entirely successful. They will enable us to give accurate connections of position of the moon in relation to the sun. Seventy pictures were taken before and forty after the totality. There was no hitch in the working of the apparatus. With extra photographic appliances and assistance we could easily have obtained 1,500 pictures. Different phases of clouds were recorded with success.
